

De Waard Tents

Certainty in camping!

De Waard is a brand with love. The love for the tents is reflected in the finest detail. You can feel that passion in the people who design, produce and sell the tents, but also in those that use them. A De Waard is not just any tent; it is the basis for beautiful memories: a tent for life. In addition to our tents for campers, we also supply tents to business customers such as rental companies, campsites and other customers.

Welcome by De Waard!

History

De Waard origins date back to 1948. Machiel de Waard, who was a sailmaker for the Royal Netherlands Navy, designed his first tent, the Albatross, at De Lepelaar campsite. In need of a tent that would never blow over, he started drawing on the back of an envelope. The tent was designed to withstand strong gusts of wind and provide a nice home for a family. Until then tents were square, therefore the Dutch ANWB spoke of "that crazy tent De Waard". During this time, it was customary to dig ditches to keep water out of the tent. As a solution to this, De Waard introduced a waterproof ground sheet under the entire tent with a fixed cockpit.

Love for tents

Now, 70 years later the Albatross still exists. Over the years, the tent continued to adapt to changing needs, whilst still retaining it's classic design. The Albatross did not remain alone for long. We constantly come up with new designs, each unique and in certain characteristics exactly the same. It is our passion to produce tents of exceptional quality and it always will be. For every De Waard tent, we carefully select only the best and sustainable materials. Our experienced craftsmen make tents with the greatest attention to detail and largely by hand. This combination of the best materials and a traditional production process make our tents extremely strong and durable. It is the same love that a camping enthusiast feels when they take their De Waard tent from the attic, ready to make new memories

More than a tent

Due to its high quality and durability, a De Waard is not just a tent, but a tent for life. It is the place where you have good conversations, love blossoms and where children grow up to love the outdoor life into old age. You don't use a De Waard, you live it. And, whether you travel the world with your De Waard or stay at the same campsite every year, opening the zipper of your De Waard will feel like coming home.

Albatross

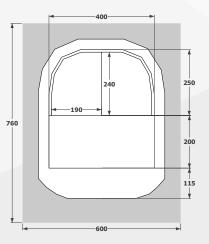

The Albatross is our classic design! This camping tent was designed in the 1950s by Mr. De Waard himself. Over the years this comfortable and reliable 4-person family tent continues to develop and the Albatross has become a global concept among nature and camping enthusiasts.

Woodpecker

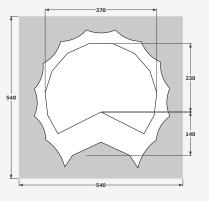

The Woodpecker is a beautiful single poled tent that is very easy to set-up with few pegs. The ease of pitching makes it an ideal touring tent. The interior space is surprisingly large due to the fact that the pole is cleverly situated slightly forward of the centre. The outside living area can be extended with an optional tarp which also offers additional protection from both the sun and rain. An inner tent is also available which makes the tent suitable for colder nights.

Crested Tit

The Crested Tit has classic lines, with a contemporary canopy. The arched awning which is both high and wide eliminates the need for poles within the footprint, making it a unique design for a pyramid tent. The awning space is extremely generous enabling you to enjoy the outdoors in comfort. This spacious 2 person tent is easy to set-up and can be expanded with various options.

Long Tailed Tit

The Long Tailed Tit is the ideal tent for campers who want comfort with the added benefit of an easy pitch. With a generous standing height and a canopy of more than three metres deep, you feel a sense of space. With large sky lights in the sleeping area you can enjoy the view of the starry sky before you fall asleep. The tent rear door benefits from a mesh window with a canvas zipped cover which offers ventilation and privacy, however, the door can also be completely unzipped allowing for uninterrupted views.

Optional front wall available for extra privacy/shelter.
